DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-13 are currently pending.

Election/Restrictions

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Direct thrombin inhibitors: (a) Argatroban, (b) bivalirudin, (c) efegatran, (d) inogatran, (e) desirudin, and (f) lepirudin, as in claims 4-6 and 10-13; elect ONE.

Anticoagulants: (g) lepirudin, (h) enoxaparin, (i) dalteparin, (j) tinzaparin, (k) bivalirudin, and (l) fondaparinux, as in claim 2; elect ONE.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species from each of the above groups to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Art Unit: 1651

The following claim(s) are generic: 1, 3, and 7-9.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: Pursuant to PCT Rule 13.2 and PCT Administrative Instructions, Annex B, Part 1(f)(I)(B)(2), the species are not art-recognized equivalents. When alternatives of chemical compounds are claimed, they shall be regarded as being of a similar nature where all alternatives have a common property or activity, and either a significant structural element is shared by all of the alternatives, or all of the alternatives belong to a recognized class of chemical compounds in the art to which the invention pertains. The words "significant structural element is shared by all of the alternatives" refer to cases where the compounds share a common chemical structure which occupies a large portion of their structures, or in case the compounds have in common only a small portion of their structures, the commonly shared structure constitutes a structurally distinctive portion in view of existing prior art, and the common structure is essential to the common property or activity. The structural element may be a single component or a combination of individual components linked together. The words "recognized class of chemical compounds" mean that there is an expectation from the knowledge in the art that members of the class will behave in the same way in the context of the claimed invention. In other words, each member could be substituted one for the other, with the expectation that the same intended result would be achieved.

In this case, the direct thrombin inhibitors within the Markush group in claim 4 do not share a significant structural element. According to the Merck Index, 16th edition, argatroban is a small molecule, while bivalirudin is a synthetic polypeptide of the sequence [D-Phe-Pro-Arg-Pro-Gly-Gly-Gly-Gly-Asn-Gly-Asp-Phe-Glu-Glu-Ile-Pro-Glu-Gly-Tyr-Leu]. Desirudin and lepirudin are derivatives of hirudin, a peptide sequence. See reference U. No structure information could be found for the species efegatran and inogatran. There is no evidence on the record that the species in the list in claim 4 share a significant structural element. Therefore, inventive unity among these species is lacking.

The anticoagulants in claim 2 do not share a significant structural element. Lepirudin and bivalirudin are peptides, while enoxaparin, dalteparin, and tinzaparin are fragments of heparin. Fondaparinux is a synthetic pentasaccharide that mimics some aspects of heparin. See reference U. There is no evidence on the record that the species in the list in claim 2 share a significant structural element. Therefore, inventive unity among these species is lacking.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
